

[adjective][species] Census and Survey

Hello, and welcome to the [a][s] Census and Survey! As a means of better serving the furry community, we've pulled together a set of demographic questions as well as some personal and psychological questions. The purpose of this survey is to gain a deeper understanding of the furry fandom and to provide insight as to who we are as a subculture and perhaps some of the reasons behind why we're here. Information gathered from this survey will be used to develop and support writings for [a][s] and will be freely available to the participants and fandom at large in order to help everyone better understand the culture of which they are an integral part.

Personal Information

In order to help maintain anonymity, tie all the results together, and notify you of further results and information, personal data is gathered here on a separate page. As with the rest of this survey, this information is strictly voluntary and private and will not be associated with your answers in any way. As none of the fields are required, we request that if you do wish to fill them out, that you use real information (partial answers such as initials are okay); if you do not feel comfortable answering, simply leave it blank. If you wish your information to be tied to your survey, write in the survey key from the top of your survey below.

Remember: all fields are optional!

Real name	<input type="text"/>	Pseudonym	<input type="text"/>
Email Address	<input type="text"/>	Survey key	<input type="text"/>

Completing the survey

If you complete this survey in person, you may hand it to the survey administrator for it to be keyed at a later date. However, if you do not complete the survey, would like more time to fill it out, or simply would like to complete it at a later date, you may take the survey with you and complete it online at <http://survey.adjectivespecies.com/2012> where you will be able to enter the survey code and pass code on the top of the survey in order to key in your answers. Completing online is just as anonymous and secure as completing in person.

Fine Print

By filling out this census and survey, you understand that the data within may be used, quoted in part or in full, or otherwise drive the content (blog, book, etc.) produced by [adjective][species] to better understand the furry fandom. [adjective][species] is unable to provide financial compensation in return for completing this census and survey. If you would prefer that your written answers not be quoted directly, please state such in the space provided on the last page; also, if you would prefer that your name be used if your information is quoted directly or referenced in any way, please state such in the space provided and specify the name you would prefer to be referred to and note your survey key on this sheet in order to tie that data to your response. You are free to withdraw your consent at any time during the survey by keeping this packet. For more information, please see <http://survey.adjectivespecies.com> or contact survey@adjectivespecies.com.